JFK Scores a Victory, Trade Bill Approved

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his legislative leaders have scored a House victory with passage of the trade expansion bill. Now they're mapping Senate strategy to hold the ground gained.

The far-reaching bill, dynamo of Kennedy's drive to keep the dollar strong and weld a close economic partnership with Western Europe, was passed late Thursday by the House, 229 to 125.

The hard-pressed Democratic leaders had won a preliminary victory on a 253-171 tally rejecting a Republican-offered substitute which had been calculated to have a maximum appeal.

There was a substantial bipartisan element in both votes, since trade legislation divides Congress on economic as well as party lines.

If the Senate agrees to it, the bill will replace the present trade law, expiring Saturday midnight.

And, for the first time in the 29-year history of reciprocal trade legislation, there would be provision for keeping tariff cuts in effect even when individual businesses and their employees are hurt by imports. Loans, tax concessions and technical aid would be available to the firms hurt; adjustment payments during retraining to the workers.

The President would have authority to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent. In dealings with the European Common Market on goods where the market countries and the United States provide the bulk of world exports, the duties could be cut to zero. They could be eliminated also in other special cases, such as non-competitive tropical products.

Kennedy, who had put the bill at the top of his legislative priority list, expressed gratification at the House action. He said it reflects the national character of his legislation as well as its importance.

The bill is open to amendment in the Senate and several senators are expected to offer provisions to lessen injury to domestic industries. Observers predicted, however, that the bill will emerge much to the President's liking.

It stops first at the Senate Finance Committee. One member, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., predicted gentle treatment, but the chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he is reserving judgment on the measure. He said the committee will have to have four or five weeks of hearings on the bill.

Administration leaders know they will face in the Senate efforts to make all the major changes in the legislation which were blocked in the House—and maybe more. These were considered certain to include efforts to eliminate the trade adjustment aid provisions, or at least to cut down the scale of payments to workers, which are higher than ordinary unemployment payments.

Also considered certain to come up is a proposed amendment to lighten oil import quotas.

Faubus Statements Are False, Opponents Say

Rusk Reports Good Trip to President

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk reported to President Kennedy today on his 10-day visit to five European capitals and said he found the President very pleased with the results of the trip.

Rusk is understood to have informed Kennedy that his mission succeeded in clearing up some Allied misunderstandings although serious difficulties and divisions continue within the ranks of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Rusk returned Thursday night and went to the White House early this morning.

After the White House talk he flew with Kennedy by helicopter to Andrews Air Force Base for the takeoff of the President and Mrs. Kennedy on their weekend trip to Mexico.

The two officials were still in brisk conversation as they made their way from the White House door to the helicopter on the lawn, and the flight itself gave them another 10 minutes before the goody-by handshake at planeside. Questioned about the 40-minute conference, Rusk told newsmen: "I gave him a full fill-in on the visit to each capital this morning. We're both very pleased with the results of the trip."

1800 Hear Smoot at Texarkana

Liberalism was given a verbal beating Thursday night by conservative Dan Smoot, when he spoke at the Texarkana Junior College auditorium on "Fundamentals of Freedom." His appearance was sponsored as a public service by the Four States Freedom Foundation.

The nationally known television and radio commentator gave the present day government a sarcastic treatment with his caustic remarks aimed at people ranging from President Kennedy to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Governmental agencies also felt his sharp tongues when he pointed a conservative finger at the New Frontier, NATO, and the United Nations.

"Our homogenized taste of American liberalism" was one comment which aroused applause from the estimated crowd of 1,800. Smoot described our present system of government as "pack up your troubles in the old ballot box and be put on the Washington gravy train."

"We would save America," Smoot concluded, "by returning to the fundamental constitutional principles on which this country was founded. It is important to help educate the public and to awaken them to the situation that now exists."

U.S. Judgment Against Farmer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A judgment of $10,244 was entered against Dermott rice farmer James Weir Thursday for overplanting his 1960 rice acreage.

The judgment was entered by federal Judge Gordon E. Young after a motion for summary judgment by the Agriculture Department.

The judgment was for planting of 120½ acres of rice on a 30-acre allotment.

Federal Judge J. Smith Henley granted a motion for summary judgment against Weir for $1,218 for overplanting of wheat acreage in 1961.

Weir previously had entered against him a $1,972 judgment for overplanting his 1959 rice allotment.

Arkansas Women Tie for Fifth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Little Rock Women's Club tied for fifth place in judging Thursday night in the Central Federation of Women's Clubs Community Improvement Contest. The club helped transform a slum area along the Arkansas River into a park, and painted a mural on the sea wall that divides the park from the downtown area. North Little Rock. The club received $1,500 for fifth place.

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market kept its rally rolling at a moderate pace in heavy trading this afternoon.

The move was a continuation of Thursday's sharpest advance in a month.

While some brokers considered the rally an overdue technical development, they saw encouragement in good business news, including award of big defense contracts and an increase in manufacturers' new orders.

Gains of most key stocks ranged from a few cents to $1 or so with glamor issues doing somewhat better.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had climbed 3.58 to 560.91.

Freeman and Mundt Clash in Estes Hearing

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman testified today he has taken adequate steps to guard against any further scandals of the Billie Sol Estes type in his agency.

Under questioning before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, Freeman said he has issued directives designed to "make clear to the whole system that irregularities would be dealt with sharply."

Freeman contended new directives plus basic policy statements have tightened procedures to the point that the Washington headquarters must be notified "the minute irregularities are discovered" by state or county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., demanded documents to back up Freeman's claim. The secretary promised to provide copies of his directives.

"McClellan assured Freeman he was not trying to be 'unduly critical, but I am sure you desire to do everything possible to take medial steps the minute they discover anything wrong.'"

The fact is, McClellan said, experience shows that when irregularities did occur "those facts didn't come to you as quickly as possible."

"That's true... that's correct," the secretary responded.

Freeman had testified earlier he has taken steps he considers adequate to prevent incidents such as the Estes case in the future, and has issued directives designed to "make clear to the whole system that irregularities would be dealt with sharply."

Mundt complained that many officials in the Agriculture Department had kept no written records of their conversations dealing with the Estes case. The department has canceled a number of cotton allotments transferred to Estes, and has imposed penalties on the Texas financier.

Mundt suggested that orders be issued requiring a written record of some kind be kept of such

U.S. Requests Return of Convicted Spy

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Fugitive Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen was under medical supervision in a prison hospital today while Israeli authorities studied a U.S. request for his return to New York to begin serving a life term.

The ailing, 62-year-old Soblen, seized here less than 60 hours after he jumped $100,000 bail in New York, was taken to the hospital in Ramleh Prison when he complained he did not feel well. A doctor testified at his trial last June that Soblen was incurably ill with leukemia — cancer of the blood — and then had 12 months to live.

A spokesman for Israel's justice ministry indicated his government would be sympathetic toward Washington's demand or Soblen's return. He said Israel does not want to become a refuge for persons convicted abroad.

The United States and Israel do not have an extradition treaty, but informants here said Israel could hand Soblen over anyhow. They reasoned that Soblen was convicted of a political crime, rather than a common criminal offense, and that such crimes as espionage are not within normal extradition treaty terms.

Soblen, former supervising psychiatrist at Rockland State Hospital in Orangeburg, N.Y., had been scheduled to show up in New York federal court Thursday to begin the life sentence for 20 years of spying. The U.S. Supreme Court refused last Monday to review the case, and Soblen then fled the country.

A U.S. District judge in New York ordered the $100,000 bail forfeited when Soblen failed to appear. Soblen's wife, a psychiatrist whose professional name is Dr. Dina Soblen, had posted $40,000 and the remaining $60,000, in U.S. government bonds, was put up by Helen Buttenweiser, a lawyer and niece of former Senator Herbert H. Lehman, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Buttenweiser, a banker's wife, said she put up the money because of her interest in changing bail systems. She said present systems benefit either the rich or criminals able to raise bond.

Informed sources said Soblen made his trip to Israel on a Canadian passport issued to his brother, Bruce — or Beras — Soblen, who is dead. Arrested in a tourist hotel at noon Thursday, he was ordered held for investigation on a charge of illegal entry into Israel.

It was learned that Soblen financed his flight with a $1,600 investment he withdrew from the Circle Manhattan Medical Group, an association of doctors. He received the money in a check and cashed it at a New York bank Monday. He left that night by airplane.

Soblen is the brother of a previously imprisoned Soviet spy, Jack Sobole, 57, who was the government's star witness against him. Jack Sobole still has two years to serve of a seven-year term. The brothers, natives of Lithuania, went to the United States in 1941 and were naturalized in 1947.

Tommy Earl Alexander pleaded guilty to burglary and grand larceny in Circuit Court here Thursday and was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary with two years suspended. The sentence was pronounced by Judge Lyle Brown.

Alexander admitted a part in the Plaza Cafe burglary here last year. He was arrested shortly after and sentenced to prison in Texas. Sheriff Jimmie Griffin turned him here for prosecution when he was released from the Huntsville jail.

Massive Welcome Is Given Kennedys by Citizens of Mexico

Determined to Build Alliance for Progress

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy received a massive welcome today as he arrived in this festive capital and called on Mexico and the United States to carry on common revolutionary traditions by waging a new battle for economic and social progress.

Hundreds of thousands of Mexicans massed at the airport and along the motorcade route as the U.S. chief executive and his wife landed for a three-day visit south of the border.

The main streets were gay with paper Mexican and U.S. flags—hastily repaired after a night downpour.

Welcomed by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, Kennedy delivered a brief airport speech keyed to the burgeoning cold war over Latin America that is posed by Marxist Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Mexico and the United States, he said in his speech, are prepared for delivery "are both children of revolution" who share a more than 2,000 miles of peaceful border.

Both the Mexican and the American revolutions, he said, had a common "passion for the expansion of social justice, economic opportunity, national independence and personal freedom."

The struggle today, he said, is to complete the work of revolutionary ancestors, "to carry forward a hemisphere-wide Alliance of Progress to win a better and more abundant life for the people of the Americas."

This task is as vast and heroic, he declared, as that undertaken by "Washington and Hidalgo, by Juarez and Lincoln."

He referred to Miguel Hidalgo, the Mexican revolutionist who died in 1811, and Benito Pablo Juarez, the Mexican hero president of the last century.

The task, he said, required contributions by industrialized countries to nations seeking development, and basic social reforms to share the fruits of progress with all.

This new revolution, Kennedy said, is "not a revolution of force or fear, not the imposition of new tyrannies or new bloodshed" but a peaceful revolution to show democratic government's capacity to attain social justice and economic progress.

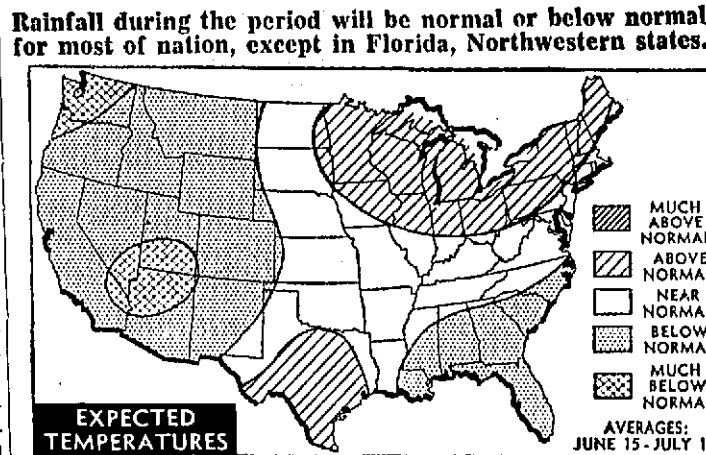

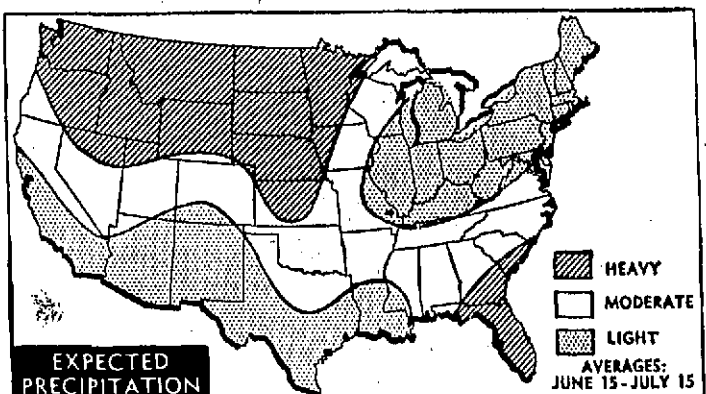

The President's speech was a prelude to private talks with Lopez Mateos, which are expected to deal with a touchy subject—Mexico's firm aloofness from efforts to completely ostracize Castro's Cuba.

Mexicans, fiercely independent, are not likely to change their attitude.

But Mexico is a key country in Latin America, a possible showcase for what Kennedy's Alliance for Progress can do, and a member of the recessed 18-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, so there are other things in common to be discussed.

This city of five million turned out massive throngs along the parade route from the airport to Lopez Mateos' offices at Los Pinos.

The route wound past nondescript neighborhoods of tumble-down shacks, new low-cost housing, past a dramatic view of the 16th century National Cathedral, built by Cortez after the Spaniards conquered the Aztecs, through Avenida Juarez past the Latin American Tower, tallest skyscraper in Latin America, and into the famed tree-lined Paseo de la Reforma and its gilded monument to Continued on Page Four

Gilbert Is Indicted by U.S. Jury

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted Edward M. Gilbert 39 on charges of misappropriating $1,953,000.

The 15-count indictment also accuses him of using the mails and wires for fraudulent purposes while he was president of the E.L. Bruce Co., the nation's largest hardwood flooring manufacturer.

The top penalty upon conviction on all counts is prescribed by law as 74 years in prison and fines totaling $62,000.

Gilbert is in Brazil which has no extradition treaty with the United States.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Peter M. Morrison obtained a bench warrant for Gilbert's arrest from U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas F. Murphy a short time after the indictment was handed up Thursday.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said Gilbert is the sole defendant in the case which led to the indictment.

The indictment grew from an investigation initiated by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The investigation which is continuing was started almost immediately after Gilbert resigned as president of the Bruce firm on June 12 and admitted to its stockholders that he had withdrawn the $1,953,000 from the company without authorization. He flew to Rio de Janeiro a few hours later.

At Rio de Janeiro Gilbert said: "I hope to pay everybody back and make everything whole some day."

Gilbert said he had sunk a fortune in efforts to retain control of the Bruce firm and to gain control of the Celotex Corp. manufacturer of building materials to merge it with Bruce. The big drop in the stock market May 28 shattered his operations and put him in a deep hole he said.

The grand jury charged—among other things—that Gilbert used the money he transferred from Bruce funds to repay obligations to banking institutions and individuals here and to banks in Geneva and Zurich Switzerland and Paris.

The indictment contains a variety of charges including fraud in stock transactions failure to comply with regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and selling unregistered shares of E. L. Bruce stock in addition to converting the $1,953,000 from the company's funds to his own use.

The government has filed liens against properties owned by Gilbert on the ground that he was in arrears on income taxes.

Big Balloon Might Go Up Sunday

If weather conditions permit, Vitro Laboratories of Maryland will try a second balloon test here next week, possibly Sunday. This is to be the second dummy test and the final launching with a telescope will take place in Texas by October.

Weather has played a big part in the second launching here at Municipal Airport, resulting in delays. A launching here has to be timed perfectly because of some 40 daily flights over this area. Facilities are fine but the final launching will be made in Texas where the balloon is less likely to come in contact with planes in flight.

The first flight here was made in March and was declared a success by Dr. Martin Schwarzschild, Princeton University, who heads Stratoscope II experiment, according to William H. Reinhardt, public relations director for the project.

The balloon ascended 14 miles and floated 600 miles in two days, being brought down in southern Georgia. The flight was controlled by pursuing planes.

Goal of the project is to launch a 36-inch telescope to photograph the stars and planets at 80,000 feet where the huge balloon will be free of the earth's atmosphere and will be able to take clearer pictures.

Survivors include his wife, two sons, Truman of Sulphur, La., Joe Goodwin of Nashville; three daughters, Mrs. Vashiti Goad of Jacksonville, Mrs. Pauline Ramage and Mrs. Francis Griffin of Nashville, a brother, Will Goodwin of Nashville, two sisters, Mrs. Alice Tommey of Nashville and Mrs. Earl Holt of Bingen.

Fire Damages Fordyce Bank

FORDYCE, Ark. (AP) — The First National Bank Building caught fire and burned for an hour Thursday night, damaging the bank and five other businesses located in the same half-block long building. Two trucks and a dozen firemen were dispatched to quell the blaze. Damage estimates were unavailable. Fire Chief Jack Wood said. He said in June, 1960, the same building caught fire, but damage then was not as great as it was Thursday night. Wood said the fire apparently started in a section of the building used as a storage room by the Allied Telephone Co.

No Comment From JFK on Prayer Ruling

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Whether the Supreme Court's school prayer decision pleases or displeases, in President Kennedy's view it's the law of the land and commands support. Moreover, he says it should encourage every family to pray more at home.

There is bound to be disagreement, Kennedy said at his news conference Wednesday.

He did not express a personal opinion but declared: "I think that it is important for us, if we are going to maintain our constitutional principle, that we support Supreme Court decisions even when we may not agree with them."

This was his indirect advice to members of Congress who have denounced the court for holding an official prayer read in New York schools an unconstitutional crossing of the wall separating church and state.

Kennedy declined to comment on constitutional amendments proposed to circumvent the ruling until he could measure their effect on the Bill of Rights.

The President was asked about the decision after he opened the conference with a statement designed to correct any misunderstanding of U.S. policy by the Chinese Communists. In course of questioning, he also restated policy on Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Formosa.

The United States, Kennedy emphasized, opposes use of force in that area but is ready "to take necessary action in the face of force."

He cautioned the Communists, who have been massing troops on the mainland off Quemoy and Matsu, that the U.S. position remains as it was under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower: "It is committed to defense of Formosa and the Pescadores and would react to an attack on the offshore islands that appeared to threaten Formosa and the Pescadores. He did not specify the form such a U.S. reaction might take.

As for any attempt by Chiang to attack the mainland, Kennedy said a 1954 agreement prohibits such an offensive without U.S. concurrence and repeated: "Our interest in this area is defensive."

Kennedy had this to say of other subjects: Trade—With the House gripped in debate over his tariff-cutting bill, Kennedy said passage this year "is vital to the future of this country." He opposed a Republican move to substitute an extension of present trade law as self-defeating on grounds that "we have exhausted the powers" it provides.

Congress — Don't adjourn, he suggested, without adopting a good deal more of the administrative and have to do better. He enumerated trade, tax, medical

State Tax Take Up $10 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Revenue Commissioner Ted Donham predicted today that tax collections for the fiscal year ending Friday will hit $168 million, an increase of more than $10 million over last year.

Final figures on the year will not be available until Friday. "Arkansas is just now feeling the effects of its industrial program," Donham said.

Donham said a healthy business climate is continuing in the state. The commissioner predicted general revenues for the year would show an increase of $5.7 million with the sales tax accounting for about $5 million of that.

Gasoline taxes will show an increase of about $1.5 million, Donham predicted, and income taxes will be up about $1.3 million.

care, education and farm proposals among those difficult to get through Congress, where he acknowledged some Democrats have been voting with Republicans for years and have to do better. He called the November congressional elections important, with a workable majority hanging in the balance.

Farm Bill—The unexpected defeat of his wheat and feed grains control measure last week was "a great mistake," Kennedy said. "What is interesting," he added, "is that Republicans now indicate they will support an emergency feed grain bill but voted against it with four or five exceptions last year."

Eisenhower — Asked about Eisenhower's assertion that his administration is spending too much on defense and "floundering" in fiscal and economic currents, Kennedy said he didn't enjoy the spending but felt strength helps maintain peace.

With some Republicans protesting not enough is done to stand up to the Communists and others saying expenses are too high, he quipped: "There should be some coordination of policy. Otherwise it may appear that the Grand Old Party will be floundering."

Lutherans Have Merged Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

DETROIT (AP)—A new church was born today in the largest merger of Lutherans in American history.

With solemn ceremony and song, four denominations joined forces to become one—the Lutheran Church in America.

"We rejoice with thanksgiving that Thy spirit has led us to this hour," was the prayer of about 7,000 Lutherans massed here for the occasion.

Rank on rank, they moved forward to kneel in communion around white altar tables stretching across the red-carpeted arena of Cobo Hall.

At one point, in dramatic symbolism of the unification of the four bodies, the flames of four tall candles were brought together, fusing into a single, bright blaze.

Presidents of the four former denominations took part in the proceedings, formally consummating the merger.

"An epochal, long prayed for event," said the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, of New York. The assembly included 1,000 official delegates, plus an outpouring of other Lutherans.

Alderman Can Be Justice of Peace

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A city alderman may also serve as a justice of the peace in Arkansas, the attorney general's office ruled today.

The opinion went to Roy Mitchell, a member of the Garland County Election Commission. Mitchell also was told that justices are covered by a law which prohibits any convicted felon from holding public office unless he has been pardoned.

Fresh Drama Each Day in an Office

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Every day begins a fresh drama in the average business office.

Did you ever watch how people come to work in the morning?

Every one arrives in a different manner, and the way he does is a tipoff to his personality.

If you get in early yourself someday, you might note these familiar characters in your own office:

Happy Harry—He read somewhere that the man who wins is the man who grins. His expression is permanently creased like a laughing mask. If anybody can smile his way to the top—well, that's Harry. He can even smile on Mondays.

The Clod—"Back to the old salt mine," he mumbles, stumbles over to his desk, buries his head in a pile of papers and never says another word to anyone all the rest of the day.

Robert Red-Eye—Life is just one long hangover to this middle-aged office playboy. As he opens the door, he thrusts out a foot cautiously—to feel if the floor is still there. His nerves are so jangled that when the phone rings he leaps three feet in the air, and comes down quivering.

Genial George—He takes it as a personal crusade to pep up office morale. Invariably he slaps the first person he sees on the back, and asks, "Did you hear the one about—?" Then he tells you the same joke you told him the day before.

Symptomatic Sid—"Didn't get a wink of sleep again last night," grumbles the office hypochondriac. Then for an hour and a half he keeps anyone else from working by giving a lengthy catalog of his aches and pains. He doesn't realize what his real ailment is—that he's a living pain in the neck.

Haunted Hubert—"Did the boss ask for me?" he asks in fright as he enters. Existence is a continual crisis for Hubert. This is because he is always desperately doing today the job he should have done the day before yesterday. All his

Was She In Love With Love?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: After eight years of widowhood I married a second time. My first marriage was happy and so is my second, but to hear my ex-sister-in-law talk you'd think purgatory was too good for me. I do my best to keep on friendly terms, out of respect for my first husband. All I can say, it isn't easy to live in the same town with this demon and remain a Christian.

She runs the general store of our village. Along with purchases, the customers get a premium of gossip—chiefly about me and my present husband. Every time we buy something new, which, God knows, isn't often, she shakes her head, gives a lugubrious sign and announces to the assembled customers, "Well, those expenditures are at it again, spending poor dead Brother's money. It won't be long till they've run through his last cent." Then she beckons them closer and does out the "facts" about our latest extravagance.

All my first husband left was $1,600, a mortgaged car and mortgaged home. Funeral and doctor's bills took $1,200 of this and her son touched me for $200, which he never paid back. Having a job, I eventually cleared up the mortgage on the car, and my present husband the mortgage on the house.

We sold the house this past spring and bought another in a sunny Southern state to which we shall retire next year. It's a modest home though adequate enough for our needs, but to hear that ex-sister-in-law and her cronies talk, you'd think it a palatial ocean-front villa. Those customers life he has been two days behind time—and never has been able to catch up.

Delbert the Dove—The newlywed can't wait even to take off his coat before calling home to be sure that no disaster has befallen the bride he left just 25 minutes ago. His love chirps over the phone make all the older married men slightly ill. Delbert has been married only three weeks—but already he has dishpan hands.

Harold Highbrow—The intellectual office boy enters with an air of utter disdain and says nothing to anybody because he thinks they are all a bunch of lowbrow creeps. When someone shouts "Boy!" Harold merely sniffs and continues reading "The Theory of the Leisure Class."

The Man Himself—The boss busies in importantly, then fixes everyone in the room with a sweeping, imperial glare. Satisfied that the entire staff is thoroughly cowed, he closes the door to his office, leans back in his swivel chair, puts his feet on the desk and takes a nice long refreshing nap.

The drama of another day at the office has begun. Whether anyone will now get any work done is quite another matter.

Hoxie was named for a one-time general manager of that division of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

of hers scatter gossip like trees dropping leaves in the fall, and know more about us than we know about ourselves. By the time the story reaches me it's good and juicy—only the juice is muddy.

My second husband has held the same position 35 years and is respected by all—with the exception of that in-law of mine. She has busied herself up hill and down dale trying to dig out some dirt about him. Thank God there's nothing to tell.

Her husband worked as a night watchman for three months and quit because as he put it, "Night was made to sleep." That wife of his called my first husband "the meanest man alive" when he lived. But dead, he was her "dear darling, abused brother." To my knowledge he had not spoken to her in the last five years of his life.

We were married 25 years so I knew his likes and dislikes pretty well. I could go on and on. Why do in-laws act as they do? —A Devoted Reader

Dear Devoted: Your plaintive query has been asked by thousands throughout the world. The primary reason for in-laws acting like cuses, is tribal resentment. Fear, jealousy and family pride are involved. Paradoxical as it sounds, there is nothing personal in their resentment. They gang up against you simply because you're an outsider. Once you realize this, it's easier to take. Depersonalize your sister-in-law. See her as a human being, not an in-law. This may not be possible. I've known some in-laws who were mentally unbalanced. In that case, their nearest of kin should see that they get psychiatric help. But that's their business, not yours. Leave the viperish sister-in-law to her own devices. Move, as soon as practical, to that sunny Southern town and start a new life with your new husband.

Morrilton Plans a Feed Mill

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—Bids will be opened July 10 for Arkansas Valley Industries' new $1 million feed mill, hatchery and processing plant in Morrilton. The integrated plants will provide 500 new jobs and a payroll of $1 million annually. Farm income in the area will be increased by $600,000. Conway County voters recently approved a $900,000 bond issue to finance construction of the plant, which AVI will lease. Bids will be taken for general construction, mechanical work, plumbing and electrical work.

er passing fancy. True love is selfless, never selfish!

Dear Helen: When I was in the seventh grade I dated a boy... the 10th grade a couple of times, then quit because Mama felt him too old for me. Now I'm 14, he 17 and we're both in high school. He lives nearby and is very active in our church (we're Mormons). Last week he asked me to a dance. Dad said I might go this once but never again as he was too old. We are good friends and have a swell time together. He plays on the school basketball team. I sit in front and cheer. Perhaps if I suggested group dating Dad would relent. Mother feels as I do but hesitates to argue with him. Please answer in your column so both may read it. —Confused.

Dear Despondent: I'm going to scold you for your own good. Three wrongs don't add up to a right. You discounted the seriousness of marriage; you two-timed while your husband was in the Service and now you talk of wanting to die if you can't have the man you "really" love. Where's your sense of values? Are you a grown woman or an irresponsible girl?

To hurt your husband and parents just because you can't live without this new man is the height of selfishness. Don't break faith with those who love and trust you. The world isn't always well lost for love's sake. Of course, if your husband does not care, that is something else again. Then, if he is willing, get a divorce, religion permitting, and marry the man you love. But be sure it is love and not just another entering the race by enemies of states' rights. "What he is doing now is the most pleasing thing that he could possibly do for the dyed-in-the wool integrationists" Faubus declared. "He is attempting to divide our forces thus providing the only opportunity for our enemies to take over the state government."

Faubus said integrationists urged Alford to get into the race and "he took the bait, hook, line, and sinker."

"I say to you that any man who cannot avoid such entrapments who willingly or otherwise becomes the tool of his enemies will be unable to cope with the problems of these troubled times and does not deserve your support."

Faubus then said Vernon Whitton of Mount Holly had been put into the race to take uninformed votes away from Faubus and help some other candidate into a runoff.

The governor dismissed a fourth opponent attorney Kenneth Coffelt of Little Rock with the remark "I leave him to the judgment of the good people of this state without further comment."

Faubus did not mention the fifth candidate David A. Cox of Weiner but he quipped on the courthouse steps after his television difficulties "Someone just said that Cox had sabotaged me because I messed up his fish fry." Cox recently charged that Faubus used political pressure to force cancellation of a political fish fry Cox had scheduled at Weiner.

During his discussion of his own administration Faubus time and again produced figures to compare the status of state affairs now with their status during the McMath administration (1949-52).

Among the comparisons Faubus noted were: The average teacher salary has increased from $1981 to 2314 a year.

The average welfare grant has increased from $21.71 to $65.57 a month.

The average weekly manufacturing wage has increased from $49.32 to $69.69.

The annual state expenditure for highway building has increased from $18 million to $81.5 million.

Each time he cited an improvement in state services Faubus asked if this were one of the things his opponents thought was bad about his administration.

The tone of the speech indicated Faubus planned to campaign this year as he did in 1960 by defending his administration and challenging his opponents to show how they could improve on what

The Garrett Chapel Baptist Church closed its 24th Vacation Bible School Friday, the enrollment 36, average attendance 36. The School was enjoyed by all. The School had as guest Rev. S. A. Stuckey and Rev. B. C. Green of Texarkana Thursday. They were served by the social committee. The children with their teachers and sponsors attended a special show at the movie Thursday afternoon.

The workers were as follows: Miss Vera Williams Principal, Miss Martha Bragg assistant principal, Miss Muriel Moss Sec'y, Teachers Miss Yvonne Bragg, Miss Norma J. Neal, Mrs. Ethel Bizzell and supervisor, Miss Jewel Davis pianist, Social committee Miss Shirley Keel and Miss Martha Bragg.

Freeman and

conversation. Freeman said such action is being considered, but said record keeping sometimes can be carried too far.

"We are often criticized for too many papers floating around, too much red tape," he said, to which Mundt replied with criticism of reluctance to plug a loophole.

Mundt said Freeman might dislike wasting paper on memos which might float around, but said this seemed better than having $100 bills floating around loosely. He did not elaborate.

Mundt also recommended that Freeman require county committees to sign receipt books which would provide a permanent record showing whether they actually had received important directives lightening precautions against irregularity.

Freeman has testified it still is in dispute whether the Reeves County, Tex., Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee did or didn't receive a copy of a memorandum warning against the Estes-type of cotton acreage allotment transfers.

Freeman said the receipt plan is one of the things a special advisory group is studying now. He acknowledged it would have been helpful in resolving the Reeves issue.

Freeman had fairly smooth sailing Thursday as he read with few interruptions a 50-page statement declaring he had cleaned up fast in the department. He blamed the Eisenhower administration for much of it.

Members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee said the situation would be different today, with Freeman subject to crossfire quizzing on the roles played by department officials - Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy among them - in ruling on Estes' big money manipulations under farm aid programs.

The subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., is investigating how Estes, a Peccos, Tex., promoter, amassed a multimillion dollar fortune through cotton acreage allotment and grain storage deals, and how the Estes financial empire collapsed in scandals. The subcommittee seeks to determine whether political influence deals, possibly involving persons high on the Washington scene, were involved.

Freeman told the subcommittee, "No official or employee now in the employ of the department is known or can reasonably be believed to have improperly accepted gifts or other favors from Estes; Estes received no special benefits as a result of favored treatment. The government has lost no money through its business with Estes."

He said the wrongdoers involved with Estes were found to be few and were fired, suspended or otherwise dealt with as fast as they were caught.

McClellan told Freeman at the end of the day: "We shall try to find out any others in the department that are not loyal, that are careless, and if we do we're going to expose them. That will be help to you."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., told reporters Freeman still has a lot of questions to answer in what Mundt called a topsy turvy but agreeable procedure of "hearing the defense first, and the accusers later."

Faubus skipped over the fifth term issue by saying voters have a right to return an elected official to office as long as they feel he is doing a good job for them.

Giants Lose, Dodgers Go Into 1st Place

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1,000-mile trip from Los Angeles to Philadelphia has put Don Demeter on the road to success. And, at the moment, the Dodgers couldn't be happier over the long ride that changed the promising outfielder from an expendable to an untouchable.

The 27-year-old right-handed swinger gave his former Dodger mates an assist Thursday, powering two homers as the Phillies whipped San Francisco 7-2 and gave Los Angeles an opportunity to regain first place in the National League.

It took the Dodgers 13 innings and 4 hours and 9 minutes to grab the chance, finally subduing the stubborn New York Mets 5-4 when Frank Howard doubled Jim Gilliam home with the winning run. That gave the Dodgers a half-game edge over the runner-up Giants.

The Dodgers sent Demeter to Philadelphia last year for pitcher Dick Farrell and infielder Joe Koppe—both no longer with the Dodgers. Demeter, meanwhile, has become the Phils' top power producer.

He got the Phils started against the Giants with a second-inning homer, then hit a two-run shot in the seventh that snapped a 2-2 tie and ended San Francisco's five-game victory string.

Besides the games involving the leaders, only one other was scheduled in the NL. The Chicago Cubs knocked off fourth-place St. Louis 7-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 4-2, the Los Angeles Angels belted Boston 19-7, Baltimore blanked Chicago's White Sox 6-0 and Kansas City outlasted Washington 10-7. Cleveland and Detroit were not scheduled.

Bob Wine and Clay Dalrymple also homered for the Phils. Jim Owens started for the Phillies, but left in the second when a double by Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou's hunt single, a walk, Jim Davenport's ground out and Jose Pagan's infield single scored the Giants' runs. Rookie Billy Smith (1-1) took over and allowed only six hits the rest of the way. Juan Marichal (11-5) was the loser.

The winner came across for the Dodgers when Gilliam opened with a walk off Ken Mackenzie (2-3), moved in second as Willie Davis grounded out and raced.

Football in June, Game Is Tonight

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Football in June? That's right. Tonight is the night of the second All-America game between the stars of the East and West at War Memorial Stadium.

About 22,000 fans are expected to turn out to see the pro-bound collegians of 61 do their stuff. All but two of the 61 players are signed to professional contracts. Twenty-eight will play in the National Football League, 18 in the American League and 12 in Canada. The other two are Greg Mather of Navy and Al Rushatz of Army, who will be otherwise occupied.

The proceedings will be carried on network (NBC) television with the kickoff slated for 8:30 p.m. (EST), with the Buffalo area blacked out. A hot, humid night is forecast.

Many of the top college coaches and most of the American Football League brass has turned out for the game, which is co-sponsored by: The American Football Coaches Association, the Buffalo Evening News and the Buffalo Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Coches Woody Hayes (Ohio State) has an explosive backfield on his Eastern team, with Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, 6-foot-4, 228-pound quarterback at the controls. Ernie Davis, flashy Syracuse back and Heisman Trophy winner and Notre Dame's Angelo Dahiero will be the halfbacks with Ohio State's Bob Ferguson, 6 foot, 220 pounds at fullback.

The Western team, with Murray Warmath (Minnesota) as the head coach, will present a solid line, anchored by the two huge Utah State tackles, 65, 275-pound Merlin Olsen and 65 250-pound Bud Miller.

Sandy Stephens, Warmath's great quarterback at Minnesota, who is going to play his pro ball in Canada, will start for the West. Jim Saxton of Texas and Bobby Lee Thompson of Arizona will be at the halfbacks. Art Perkins of North Texas State will be the fullback.

The teams will play college rules, 1962 version, with two wild cards substitutes permitted after each play. Although some players will double up on offense and defense, especially the West squad, the East will try to play a separate defensive unit if possible.

Ozarks Meet Won by 2State Team

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — An Oklahoma-Kansas team headed by professional Labron Harris Sr. Stillwater, Okla., fired a 13-under par 57 Thursday to win first place in the $500 pro-am event of the annual Rodeo of the Ozarks in a 10-hole golf tournament.

Their mark was one point short of the 1961 winning score. Harris had a four under par 66 to spark his team to victory. Amateur Duke Evans, Oklahoma State University, had a 34-33-66; Roger Brown, also of OSU, fired a 35-33-68 and John Stevens of Wichita a 34-35-69.

Second place went to an all Springdale team captained by Tex Gage. The team, with Stan Richmond (70), L. D. Collins (69) and Bill Cowan (73), carded a 61.

There were 12 teams of four men each entered in the tournament. Medalist in the qualifying rounds for the amateur event Thursday was R. H. Sikes with about 87 players start medal play in the tournament today.

home on Howard's hit. That gave the victory to Ed Roebuck (5-0), who allowed the Mets only two hits for 5 1-3 innings. The Dodgers had tied it in the eighth on Maury Wills' triple and a single by Gilliam after the New Yorkers had pulled ahead in the top of the inning when Gene Woodling scored one run with a sacrifice fly and pinch hitter Rod Kanehl knocked in two with a bases-loaded single.

Cal Koonce (6-2), a 21-year-old rookie, scattered 10 St. Louis hits. A first-inning run-producing triple by Billy Williams and Ernie Banks' two-run double in the third put it away early against the Cardinals and Bob Gibson (9-6).

Yankees Halt Uprising to Go Into Second

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

When it comes to cutting the bad guys off at the pass, the New York Yankees call on Marshall (The Sheriff) Bridges, one of the fastest guns in the American League.

He halted another uprising Thursday as the Yankees beat Minnesota 4-2 and leap-frogged into second place. The left-handed fireballer came in with the bases filled and two runs across in the eighth inning, fanned Don Mincher for the third out, then held the Twins in the ninth.

It was the 22nd appearance of the season for Bridges, 31, a short-stint specialist who has been a valuable replacement for the injured southpaw relief star, Luis Arroyo. Bridges' latest performance saved a victory for Bill Stafford, who was supported by homer help from Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

By winning, the Yankees took over the runnerup spot in a virtual deadlock with Minnesota and Los Angeles—all 1½ games behind Cleveland. New York has a three-percentage-point edge on the Angels, who in turn are three points ahead of the Twins.

The Angels bombed Boston 19-7, Baltimore completed a three-game sweep of Chicago on Steve Barber's shutout pitching, 6-0, and Kansas City outscored Washington 10-7 in other AL action. Cleveland and Detroit had the day off.

In the National League — Los Angeles nipped New York 5-4 in 13 innings and regained first place from San Francisco, a 7-2 loser to Philadelphia, and Chicago whipped St. Louis 7-2. Other clubs were not scheduled.

Maris and Mantle homered in the fourth and the Yankees made it 3-2 against loser Jack Kralick in the seventh when Elston Howard doubled and eventually scored on an error.

The Angels sprayed 18 hits and collected 13 walks against five Red Sox pitchers. Los Angeles had a pair of five-run innings in the fourth and seventh. Winning pitcher Eli Grba got two hits and four runs batted in. The loss went to 1961 rookie of the year, Don Schwall, whose record now is 2-9.

Barber gave up eight hits and seven walks in Baltimore's shut-out over the White Sox. Brooks Robinson sent the Orioles ahead with a first-inning homer off Don Zanni and singled in another run in the third.

Manny Jimenez, the AL's top batter teamed with the recently-acquired Billy Conzolo to pace the Athletics in the hitting match at Washington. Jimenez increased

Advises Youth to Study Lessons

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — A 10-year-old Camden boy, James Griffith Jr., had an ambition to be the first boy in space, so he wrote President Kennedy volunteering his services.

James received a letter from O. B. Floyd Jr., director of the office of Public Services and Information of the Space Agency.

Floyd wrote that the President sent James his thanks for his offer. "Unfortunately, however," he wrote, "space flights involve so great an expense that for many years only a few highly trained pilots with extensive scientific and engineering training will make them."

If James wishes to become an astronaut when he is older, Floyd said, "I would urge you to concentrate on your studies in school and try to acquire the kind of technical background which is required."

his average to .351 with a double and two singles, while Conzolo had three hits. All told, Kansas City collected 18 hits. The Senators had 13 in losing their fourth in a row. Jerry Walker was the winning pitcher and Don Rudolph the loser.

McMath Puts Out a Comic Book

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sid McMath, the man who put comic books into Arkansas politics, came up today with a new campaign wrinkle — a documentary film. Titled "A Man for Arkansas," the film deals with problems confronting Arkansas and McMath's qualifications to handle them.

A Citizens for McMath Committee said the film would be shown on a statewide telecast at 7:30 p.m. July 9. Earlier that day it will be previewed at a $10-a-plate fund-raising breakfast at Hotel Marion.

The committee said copies of the film would be sent to each television station in Arkansas so

McMath supporters could buy time for its showing.

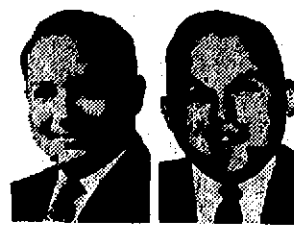

Other copies will be available for showing at civic meetings.

McMath introduced comic books in his first governor's campaign in 1948. The hero of the book was McMath, who jumped into statewide politics on his record as prosecuting attorney and as a Marine veteran.
